

Apostate

Light This City

You used to spread your wings only when no one was looking
and when you finally trusted me enough to reveal them
I slowly ripped them off
What have I done?

Who now will carry me to heaven when this life is over?
Eternally, I am unforgiven.
We've come to love without faith.

But I am only human
And so you have come to be
What will you do now that you're one of us?

Savage, and selfish with love.
Always fighting to not be alone.
Just remember I'm on your side
Fighting to attain the same goals
Yer we face each other as enemies to conquer