Don't worry about the mishaps Chin straps, headlock We all got the same rise We all got the same drop 2011: we all in the same pot Make a choice, you have a voice Back then, we was parted by the masters Gave us religion so we couldn't move past it In reality it's all about the Earth People turn their back Because the money and its worth Now I will never work just to work People dying every day Just to buy a t-shirt And why college is so expensive? People wanna learn, but there's always some fences I tell you like that I move with forgiveness People always wanna cut But not with precision I guess that we're gifted This is one life to live and I'ma live it Fuck the critics, I'm happy: Lil Bars Lil Bars: party and no party People still rocking It's Young Based God, no way to stop me Stop with the hate Tell them cowards watching Signed a couple checks And I ain't talking deposits This is change for This is wannabe gangstas People that get lost That walks with the strangers Had no friends I was looking for an angel Wanted the floor map But I ain't had no angles Now every time I see the flag I salute to the thugs The flag salutes back That's America for us People have died just to speak for the freedom before us Now we bleeding for more stuff People watch over There's clones in the hood Everybody is a soldier And everybody with this shit But don't nobody wanna teach nobody Wanna get sick, but be caught for the crime That's why I keep it so real Life after life, we might not talk But I'm fine... I'm at peace, one love man, I fixed that beef Can't nobody do it like that boy Lil B

That's real shit
You know
You tell em muthafuckas to sample that..
