

In The Cool Dark Night

Linda Eder

In the cool dark night, here on my pillow
As the stars hang bright, over my head
I can hear a breeze sing in the willow
All the words of love we've said

And my heart pounds strong
Under the covers
And the moon casts long shadows ahead
But I'm in a song only for lovers
In the cool dark night instead

I can hear each promise we've never broken
And each heartfelt moment we'd ever share
Calling somehow
Calling someway
I will always be there

And I wonder if, just as they told me
All the old cliches really come true
Then I feel two arms reaching to hold me
And I'm lost and found, and new
In the cool dark night with you
