Trouble Again

Linda Ronstadt

Well I wake up in the night now And don't you know I think of you It's the fire in your eyes That keeps on cutting through There's nowhere I can run to Can't seem to lose the thought of you I never really was a bad girl But you got me in trouble again

Well I used to walk the straight line I knew what I was doing all the time There was nothing left to move me I always held my ground But you got me where you want me And now you're always here to haunt me I never really was a bad girl But you got me in trouble again

I still remember how it felt when you put your arms around me But if I thought you could love me, I was blind

But you got me where you want me And now you're always here to haunt me I never really was a bad girl But you got me in trouble again

Well you'd think I would've learned by now And I'd keep away from you somehow Just like a little child I keep coming back for more But baby when you come today Don't you know that I'll come out and play I never really was a bad girl But you got me in trouble again I never really was a bad girl But you got me in trouble again Woah I never really was a bad girl But you got me in trouble again