

Under The Skin

Lindsey Buckingham

I hear your heart as you pass through I know the pain that you feel I'll shepherd you

Under the skin
everything shows
Under the skin

Anything goes
for the asking
Under the skin

I know it's hard been so hard to find Your passion swallows you whole Deaf dumb and blind

Under the skin
everything grows
Under the skin

Anything goes
for the asking
Under the skin

When the shout is thrown from the side of the wall and you feel so small Where do you belong

When you're so far out and you're filled with doubt and the silhouettes shout
Where do you belong

Lay your head down
no one will see Cry me a river of new dreams float just so free

Under the skin
everything shows
Under the skin

Anything goes
for the asking
Under the skin

Under the skin
everything grows
Under the skin

Anything goes
long live the Queen
Under the skin
