

Nothing Left

Link 80

Find yourself in brand new times
Unfamiliar crooked lines
The rules have changed
Nothings the same
The same things happen everytime and everyone says you'll do fine
Swallowing pride while you're throwing up shame
Coming undone, nothing's done,
I watch the world pass while I waste away
Take it as it comes, but it's all gone
I've got nowhere to go, I've got nothing to say
Everything you thought, none of it was true,
You only cared about yourself
You walked in no one else's shoes
Now I've seen too much of life
My heart has turned to stone
But I still have my friends
I won't ever be alone
Coming undone, nothing's done,
I watch the world pass while I waste away
Take it as it comes, but it's all gone
I've got nowhere to go, I've got nothing to say
Too late for your confessions
Too late to get it off your chest
Your existence is pathetic,
You have nothing left.
