

A Hole of Black

Lion's Share

in the dark i see everything is so much clearer when i go through the door and i step into a world for man unknown you can't hold me back cuz there is something new unseen before i've found what i want, it's true! and i'm never coming back there's nothing that you can do! going through a hole of black as far as i can see in the misty haze before me a white and shiny light i can feel it piercing through my armoured suite don't you hold me back i'll see you somewhere else, another world