All I Really Want Is Love

Lisa Ekdahl

I've looked all around this Big old world and found that All I really want is love

Nothing can compare
This world I've had my share of
All I really want is love

In this life of chasing dreams Such strife in seeking schemes Designed for happiness

Now I finally realized Deep underneath my lies All I really want is love.

I've had twice my share From fortune to despair now All I really want is love

Nothing satisfies this World won't compromise me All I really want is love
