

Where You Are

Lisa Mitchell

Walk through me like your palaces
Run your fingers through the grasses
Like your lover's hair
I've got things for you

Dance through me like your ballrooms
Show me your Michael Jackson moves
Just like Broadway, only there's no applause
But the spring is bubbling

Where you are is where I am
Oh, you know where to find me
Wherever you fall, you're already home

Seek me like your angels
Speaking
Language of the rainbows
Ask and it will be done

And treat with me like your groceries
There is magic in your food
There's a cauldron in the soil
There's secret witch in you

Where you are is where I am
Oh, you know where to find me
Wherever you fall, you're near like family
You're already home

All I ask is, are you listening?
In my heart of darkness
Are you surrendering?

Where you are is where I am
Oh, you know where to find me
Wherever you fall, you're already home
You're already home
You're already home
In a heart of darkness, are you surrendering?

Where you are is where I am
Anytime, you know where to find me
Wherever you fall, you're already home

Pray on me like your chapels
Like your mosques and synagogues
From my forest floor to the ocean break
The altar stretches on
