

A Thousand Years

Little Big Town

I still can't believe you're really here wrapped up in my arms
I've waited so long just to hold you near
And tell you all the feelings I have for you
The reason that I want you and I want you to know

Wherever you go, whatever the future holds
No matter what tomorrow brings
On earth or the stars, I will be where you are, holding you
Now that I have you here, I'll love you for a thousand years

Baby, even all the time and space couldn't come between us
Couldn't separate us from each other
We're meant to be together, I want to spend forever
Forever in your arm

Wherever you go, whatever the future holds
No matter what tomorrow brings
On earth or the stars, I will be where you are, holding you
Now that I have you here, I'll love you for a thousand years

I will be here with you
I will be loving you

Wherever you go, whatever the future holds
No matter what tomorrow brings
On earth or the stars, I will be where you are, holding you, lo ving you
Now that I have you here, I'll love you for a thousand years
