

When Someone Stops Loving You

Little Big Town

Still gotta walk into a crowded room
With the radio on Crack a smile and crack a beer like it don't bother you Like it ain't your song that's on

Still gotta cross the bridge to get to work
The one by her place
Make it through the 9 to 5 like you don't hurt
It goes that way

When someone stops loving you
It don't make the evening news
It don't keep the sun from rising, the clock from winding, your heart from beating
Even when you want it to
When someone stops loving you

Still gotta button up your collared shirt
The one she used to button down
Sleep on the mattress where her body left a curve
Or maybe just the couch

Still gotta keep her number in your phone
In case she calls back
One night when she's drunk and all alone
Yeah you pray for that

When someone stops loving you
It don't make the evening news
It don't keep the sun from rising, the clock from winding, your
heart from beating
Even when you want it to
When someone stops loving you

The hardest part about it is There ain't a switch that you can flip
'Cause you can't stop loving them

When someone stops loving you
When someone stops loving you
It don't keep the sun from rising, the clock from winding, your
heart from beating
Even when you want it to
When someone stops loving you
When someone stops loving you
When someone stops loving you
