

Superblues

Little Hurricane

If you want something you gotta work for, work your hands to the bones

If you love someone you gotta be there
Show 'em every damn change that you give

If you love me and it's too cold out to be alone
And you know it's getting bad when they start to give up and we party

We live in better times when you set the 'to a bottle wine
And now it's always a luck but you do it again
Cuz you just want it all

If you want something you gotta work for, work your hands to the bones

If you love someone you gotta be there
Show 'em every damn change that you give

You know it's always set when your heart last it the whole betting in

You'll be better than this, show me a sign if there is something more than this

You don't need to change myself
What's the point to be somebody else
Words suck up in my mind, run out of hope and running out of time

If you want something you gotta work for it, work your hands to the bones

If you love someone you gotta be there
Show 'em every damn change that you give

If you want something you gotta work for it, work your hands to the bones

If you love someone you gotta be there
Show 'em every damn change that you give

If you love someone you gotta be there
Show 'em every damn change that you give
