

If I Get Lucky

Little River Band

When I fall down hard I don't break, I just bruise,
I get the call to give or take, if I chose,
And I keep runnin' night and day if I can't find the truth,
Anyway it's all the same 'til someone cuts me loose.

But if I get lucky, maybe life will be a cruise,
If I get lucky maybe I can lose these lonesome blues, yeah
If I get lucky, babe, if I get lucky, babe.

I build a wall to hide behind, keepin' low,
I need a hole to crawl inside when things get slow,
But I believe the danger line begins with you alone,
Someday baby you might find that its me who's coming home.

But if I get lucky, maybe life will be a cruise,
If I get lucky maybe I can lose these lonesome blues, yeah
If I get lucky, babe, if I get lucky, get lucky.

Well it easy to say some things never change,
So why should they change for me ?
Though I never tried I can't be denied,
I set all your horses free.

But if I get lucky, maybe life will be a cruise,
If I get lucky maybe I can lose these lonesome blues, yeah

If I get lucky, babe,
If I get lucky, babe, if I get lucky, babe.
Well it easy to say some things never change,
So why should they change for me?
Though I never tried I can't be denied,
I'll set all your horses free.
If I get lucky, if I get lucky, babe.
