If I Get Lucky

Little River Band

When I fall down hard I don't break, I just bruise, I get the call to give or take, if I chose, And I keep runnin' night and day if I can't find the truth, Anyway it's all the same 'til someone cuts me loose.

But if I get lucky, maybe life will be a cruise, If I get lucky maybe I can lose these lonesome blues, yeah If I get lucky, babe, if I get lucky, babe.

I build a wall to hide behind, keepin' low, I need a hole to crawl inside when things get slow, But I believe the danger line begins with you alone, Someday baby you might find that its me who's coming home.

But if I get lucky, maybe life will be a cruise, If I get lucky maybe I can lose these lonesome blues, yeah If I get lucky, babe, if I get lucky, get lucky.

Well it easy to say some things never change, So why should they change for me ? Though I never tried I can't be denied, I set all your horses free.

But if I get lucky, maybe life will be a cruise, If I get lucky maybe I can lose these lonesome blues, yeah

If I get lucky, babe, If I get lucky, babe, if I get lucky, babe. Well it easy to say some things never change, So why should they change for me? Though I never tried I can't be denied, I'll set all your horses free. If I get lucky, if I get lucky, babe.
