

The One That Got Away

Little River Band

It's more than I can handle, much more than I can take,
You never feel the fire
'til you lose the love you make,
I should've seen it comin', now that I'm in deeper than I've ever been, she's soundin' like a stranger, and I'm afraid I've done it to myself again, oh...

Sittin' here all through the night, losin' this fight,
don't let her be the one that got away, things I should have said keep runnin' through my head, and I'm the fool that's missin' her today, I can't believe this is happening to me, can't let the girl turn out to be the one that got away.

Long distance conversations, a thousand miles from home, don't satisfy the hunger when you're feelin' so alone, now it may be too late, she won't forget the way I treated her, could've been so easy all I had to do was say I needed her, oh...

I knew there'd be trouble, the day I left town, I never thought this could take me take me down, oh
