

What Wonder

Little Wings

Don't fight the day

Don't blame the way

Don't kill your laughing

Fall onto me like suns will shine

Bend like a willow breathe your breath until I billow

In the face of what we've lost and what we've found

Don't come up short

Don't leave the fort without my singing

song in your lungs

Drag me through my coals

Put your fingers through my holes

Leave me filled so when you're full I'm feeling fine

What wonder do you want to see?

What part of you is ailing?

One for you and one for me

When our faith is failing

What wonder do you hope to find?

What part of you is wailing?

Ears are deaf and eyes are blind

With fingers brailing

Wooooahhhhhhh....

Some tree to climb

Some trick of mine

Your beak is snapping

Hold to your chest my tangled vine

Bend down to peck and peak
When the light begins to leak leafy shadows on your face are made of mine
This treasure chest
Is better, best, is booty raking
Piled on our table wide and high
Sniff at the air
Run your paws through my hair
Writhing wrong and unaware beneath my sight

What wonder do you want to see?
What part of you is ailing?
One for you and one for me
When our faith is failing
What wonder do you hope to find?
What part of you is wailing?
Ears are deaf and eyes are blind
With fingers brailing

Sway with your curves
Leaning back beneath the blurs
Of shady limbs and shedding furs we're sure to find Time as it tells
With the casting of its spells
Don't wear off, wear me well, see me shine
Walk with these words
Feel the endings of your nerves
Another branch to break, a crooked limb to climb
Ohhhhh, ohhhh....
