

Shylina

Livin' Blues

like the morning due
when the sun goes up
like the sweetness in the sound of love
in the smile that blinds my eyes

where the river flows
to the rainbow glows
and we've been blowed
gently waves
is the place we've shared our love.

when the autumn leaves
fallin' down the trees
I remove from where my memory stays
and her eyes were filled with tears

while the seal suns goes by I still see her sad face as I said that I'd leave him how sweet fell in that day and it went so clear rainin and she helped me to stay heard she couldn't leave without me so I promised to stay
but I lied
