

Lord of the Flies

Lizzy Borden

I see a ship of fools, don't obey your rules
Always fades away, never wanna play
Carries loaded dice, sell your sould half price
Cothing matters here, growing insincere

And when the dream stand up and slips away
And when the screams start to fly into the sky
The dream dies

Lord of the flies
King of the killing sky
Lord of the Flies
Dares you to cross the line

Stripping all the gears, holding back the tears
Got the goat all along, something don't belong
Instigating fear, paralyzing sneer
Bark and then the bite, steal your heart just for spite

And when the night burns brightly into day
And when the light shines on without decay
It's all lies

Lord of the flies
King of the killing sky
Lord of the Flies
Dares you to cross the line
Lord of the flies
Never see eye to eye
Lord of the flies
Cutting you down to size

And when the dream stand up and slips away
And when the screams start to fly into the sky
The dream dies

Lord of the flies
Lord of the flies
Lord of the flies
