

Homecoming Queen

Locksley

Fell in love with her one summer night on a walk in the park
I was comfortably sitting next to her, listening to her talk
I fell in love with her one summer night, the first time I touched her hand Things didn't work out as I planned

Everything can change so quickly you don't know at what to react feeling like this is the first time, every time she laughs with me and everything is going perfectly, you'd think I planned it this way then I throw it all away

Homecoming queen
how have you been?
Homecoming queen
do you remember me?

Falling in and out, I let her down; I know I made some mistakes but some mistakes turn for the best if given time, so give it a day, or two

Homecoming queen
how have you been?
Homecoming queen
do you remember me?

How did we let it end?
is it as simple as: it was just what happened?
Now I cannot pretend it was just by chance and I was right from the start of it

Homecoming queen
how have you been?
Homecoming queen
do you remember me?
