You Were Right About The High

You were right about the high, its taken over all the sky one last request before I die: just let 'em know I said "goodbye"

I know we're onto something and whether or not high hopes are going nowhere they're the only hope we've got

Its a funny time to sing when words amount to less than nothing nothing's a funny thing to do when its all left up to you

they're the only hope we've got

I thought you never knew no, now you go sacrificing everything because you never knew, sir you were sleeping with the enemy

What an awkward time to pause on the brink of total chaos call it 'the calm before the storm' consider yourselves warned.

I know we're onto something
they're the only hope we've got
