

Staring At The World Outside

Locnville

In days of masquerade status
Names and strange places
Just stay in your lane in this rat race
Don't forget your game faces
I've paved the way for greatness
Tell satan to pay the waitress
I've sold my soul so long ago
I've overgrown replacements

With so many changes
It's just hard to stay who you are
I know this game's a game
But don't overstay and play it too hard
I played the game
And made a break
And made a "HOO HAA!!"
And changed the game
To make the same
And claim the new new spot
And made mistakes
And overcame
And made a new start
It's safe to say
That either way
It's really just who you are

I'm staring at the world outside
I'm beginning to see the colours
I'm staring at the world outside
My visions never been so clear
(4x)

To measure days spent on a grey sky
Well that's just staying on the safe side
It's safe to say
A sin in itself
Is living in hell
As well to suffer. Infernos.
I'd rather paint the city
Wavin' a glass to colour it merlot

A bit of shiraz
To add a spizaz
And smash the glass to pass on
A picture perfect moment
Got it, then hold and keep the flash on
And keep the sunset drive in silence
These'll be the days of our lives
And keep the sunkept mindset I'm in Summer days are playing outside
And now I'm
And now I'm
And now I'm

I'm staring at the world outside
I'm beginning to see the colours
I'm staring at the world outside

My visions never been so clear
(4x)

I'm staring at the world outside
(8x)

Ahhh