Let Me Break You

London After Midnight

What on earth went wrong Just tell me what went wrong Can't understand just how you feel

I know the end is near But I no longer fear That what we had was so unreal

Why can't you feel it? You had to know How could you steal it? Let me break you

You made it all so mad Love or control gone bad It seems to me you don't play fair I've come to know your kind Through innocence then blind Believed in something that was never there