

You Will Need Me

Lonnie Johnson

Yes, you don't know how much you gonna need me
Until I walk out your door
Yes, you don't know how much you gonna need me
Until I walk out your door
To find a true lovin' and kind man like me
You can't find that anymore

Yes, I thought I had a real woman
That I could love for the rest of my life
Yes, I thought I had a real woman
I could love for the rest of my life
But I found it out I was only in love
With another man's wife

Yes, night and day I cried for you, love
You laughed and called me a clown
Yes, night and day I cried for you, love
You laughed and called me a clown
But, baby, you gonna need me
When your so called friends begin to turn you down

Everybody can tell you how to treat your man
Yes, but you wrecked your home
Everybody can tell you how to treat your man
Yes, but you wrecked your home
And there's nobody gonna help you, baby
When your good man's gone
