

Rise Again

Loona

I've been taught, in the name of life
What a thrill, like a steely knife it hit my face
See it left without a trace

Life's been short, in the name of love
Paid my bills, just to rise above secret hills

There's been awful pain all through this race
I made it to a peaceful place, I know
I will make it again
See my consciousness is bright and clear
See me standing tall and have no fear at all

Take away my pride, I will rise again
Thought it seems so hard, I know
You will see me again

Seasons come and go, I will rise again
Deep inside I know
I'll be back again
