Looptroop

The night was still young, she felt like a million bucks Leaving behind the pain and the building blocks ...Blockin' the sunshine mockin' the young minds duckin' from one time ...To fly the nest and try the next Leave it all, set out on her private quest. Not really sure what she lookin' for, but like She knows that there must be more to life Too many things tryin' to control her life Like the career that she know ain't right Or like the boyfriend that told her lies Or her jealous friends. Yo it's only right That I'm gone tonight. I wasn't meant to be Trapped like this physically and mentally Only thing I'll miss a be my family But I'm on the right path so don't cry for me.. Cus I'm Lookin' for love And you are - Lookin' for love We are all - Lookin' for love...

One love, one aim - different name, different city Same old shitty pollution. This kid he sees no other solution But to leave with the last train He's tired of the fast lane and the acid rain The massive pain that we all feel at times But nobody else understands when we feel it. Why? No sympathy, no empathy, no love in the city, no identities He went to sleep. When he awoke the next day Lookin' out the train window he sees he's halfway To the Promised land, and face to face with a young woman Ey, what's that song you hummin'? It's the new Looptroop - lookin' for love or something Oh, I ain't heard it yet. Is it hot? Yeah, bumpin' Can I hear it? Alright. Exchanging looks Listen, it's just coming up to the hook.. and I'm Lookin' for love And you are - Lookin' for love We are all - Lookin' for love...

The night was still young, their lives were still young And who knows - they just might fulfil one And others' needs over this butter beat It's a bitter sweet little lovers' theme Cus some find love around the corner Some never find it though they travel the four corner Of the earth, but for what it's worth I'm sure it's out there - I'll continue to search.. cus I'm Lookin' for love And you are - Lookin' for love We are all - Lookin' for love...