A Song In The Key Of Sex

Lorene Drive

I feel the rhythm in your body And I know you felt it too I feel it when you're near me How could I ever forget you

I feel the rhythm in your body And I know you felt it too I feel it when you're near me How could I ever forget you

I've got a pocket full of roses These thorns are sticking in my side I didn't lie when I told you I simply never ever lie

All I have are these promises that you gave to me You haven't broken yet

I feel the rhythm in your body And I know you felt it too I surrender so regretful How could I ever forget you

I love the rhythm in your body And I know you love it too I love it when you're near me God Damn, I'd love to forget you

Your best bet is some bad advice So just paint me white 'cause I surrender Forever

I feel the rhythm in your body And I know you felt it too I surrender so regretful How could I ever forget you

I feel the rhythm in your body And I know you felt it too I surrender so regretful How could I ever forget you How could I ever forget you

Paint me white, it's all I need tonight Paint me white, it's all I need tonight

I feel the rhythm in your body

I feel the rhythm in your body And I know you felt it too I surrender so regretful How could I ever forget you

I feel the rhythm in your body And I know you felt it too I surrender so regretful Your best bet is bad advice So paint me white