

When The Tingle Becomes A Chill

Loretta Lynn

Sometimes at night while you're fast asleep
I lie there alone in the darkness and weep
So sorry and sad but that's part of the deal
When the tingle becomes a chill

I never wanted to stop loving you
I'll swear by the breath in my body that's true
But a woman can't help the way that she feels
When the tingle becomes a chill

You're so contented but for me it's all gone
And though I pretend, you just don't turn me on
The body performs but the soul has no will
When the tingle becomes a chill

I never wanted to stop loving you
I'll swear by the breath in my body that's true
But a woman can't help the way that she feels
When the tingle becomes a chill