

To Get To You

Lorrie Morgan

I've cried an ocean of salty tears, so torn apart by love
Struggled through so many lonely years, dying for a lover's touch

Now that I'm lying here safe in your arms
Baby, I would go through it all again

I'd fall back down on my knees, spend desperate years lost at sea

Baby, to get to you

I'd go through every heartbreak, lose every last bit of faith

Baby, to get to you

Recry every hard tear, face every dark fear

Just to feel the sun break through

Baby, to get to you

Baby, I was convinced that I'd been abandoned by God

That I was one in a million souls, somehow he forgot

Now that I've found you it makes perfect sense

And I would go through it all again

I'd fall back down on my knees, spend desperate years lost at sea

Baby, to get to you

I'd go through every heartbreak, lose every last bit of faith

Baby, to get to you

Recry every hard tear, face every dark fear

Just to feel the sun break through

Baby, to get to you

I'd fall back down on my knees, spend desperate years lost at sea

Baby, to get to you

I'd go through every heartbreak, lose every last bit of faith

Baby, to get to you

Recry every hard tear, face every dark fear

Just to feel the sun break through

Baby, to get to you

I've cried an ocean of salty tears

Baby, to get to you
