To Get To You

Lorrie Morgan

I've cried an ocean of salty tears, so torn apart by love Struggled through so many lonely years, dying for a lover's tou ch Now that I'm lying here safe in your arms Baby, I would go through it all again I'd fall back down on my knees, spend desperate years lost at s ea Baby, to get to you I'd go through every heartbreak, lose every last bit of faith Baby, to get to you Recry every hard tear, face every dark fear Just to feel the sun break through Baby, to get to you Baby, I was convinced that I'd been abandoned by God That I was one in a million souls, somehow he forgot Now that I've found you it makes perfect sense And I would go through it all again I'd fall back down on my knees, spend desperate years lost at s ea Baby, to get to you I'd go through every heartbreak, lose every last bit of faith Baby, to get to you Recry every hard tear, face every dark fear Just to feel the sun break through Baby, to get to you I'd fall back down on my knees, spend desperate years lost at s ea Baby, to get to you I'd go through every heartbreak, lose every last bit of faith Baby, to get to you Recry every hard tear, face every dark fear Just to feel the sun break through Baby, to get to you I've cried an ocean of salty tears Baby, to get to you