

Telepathy Nights

LostAlone

This was like a dream
I had a conversation with you in my sleep
And I think that you were aware because today you're looking at me in a strange way
Don't you mistake my affection for hate
Its all just a game I implore you to play along obey me
If confidence remained it would be
A treat to meet you lets walk along the shore
Extinguish my face reasons are empty here forth
The harder we come the harder we fall apart
I'm on fire and the flames taste like ice
Some feelings fade addicted now with time apart
And now I'm exposed cos you now know what's in my heart