

The Ocean

Lou Rhodes

In me burns a love so strong
I used to think it made me weak
I've held it there for oh so long
Tried to bury it so deep

For there's a soul inside a woman
That knows the soul inside a man
And I could just as well forget you
As hold the ocean in my hand

And you know that it's the second arrow
That always deals the fatal blow
It's not the yearning that'll kill us
But fighting not to let it show

For there's a soul inside a woman
That knows the soul inside a man
And I could just as well forget you
As hold the ocean in my hand

For there's a soul inside a woman
That knows the soul inside a man
And I could just as well forget you
As hold the ocean in my hand
