Willow Willow

Oh no, oh no, you don't have to explain it any more You told me once all I did was complain But that was long, long before, now I'm assured I go all alone in my lonely world Go and I know, look and I see only one girl Willow, willow, why do you bend so slowly but positively? I saw you grow up from the ground Came the top half of irresistible you You know it too You grow all alone in your only world Grow and you know Look and you see it's a shining world Oh no, oh no, you don't have to explain it any more You told me twice all I've did was complain But that was long before, now I'm assured I go all alone in my only world Go and I know, look and I see it's a shining world

Love