

Let It Go

Lovedrug

rest your head on the ashes of a sun glory days are fading faster than the tides have come lay your wreckage heart upon the shore nothing here will be able to hurt you anymore

let it go
like a fallen soldier
let it go

rest your head on the ashes of a star sleeping houses weigh too much no matter who you are take your dying flower in the vein courage will no longer cause you any more pain

let it go
let it go
like a fallen soldier
let it go
like a wave in the ocean does
let it go
like a fallen soldier

you were a sun
you were a star
you were a ride in a crashing car you were a heart broken in two half is alright, the other's been used you were a light
at the edge of the world
you were so righteous
you were somebody's girl you were a key to a lock in a door it never opened
don't be sore

[repeat chorus]
