It's Your Life

Loverboy

Would it be too much to ask you for a light Or is that the kinda thing that always ends up in a fight How's come you think that everybody's on the make But if we carry on this way there's gotta be some give and take But it's your life Do what you like You got this way of turning magic into lust You take it all for granted, you crush it in the dust I see ya looking, but you don't even care But all I wanna do is run my fingers through your hair, through your hair Oh through your hair But it's your life So do what you like Because you really don't owe me You really don't owe You really don't know me You really don't know It's your life So do what you like You got this way of turning magic into lust You take it all for granted, you crush it in the dust I see ya lookin', but you don't even care But all I wanna do is run my fingers through your hair, through your hair Oh through your hair But it's your life So do what you like Because you really don't owe me You really don't owe You really don't owe me You really don't owe You really don't know me You really don't know You really don't know me You really don't know But it's your life So do what you like Do what you like Do what you like Do what you like Do it... Do what you like
