You always said that going out was something you can't live without. You wanna know, I cant believe you never would stay home with me.

People told me what they see exactly what you do to me.
They tell me all the things you do but still it didn't seem like you.

You said it meant nothing and that you're only mine, I saw this one coming but I closed my eyes.

Would you change for me, as I close my eyes all alone I see.
Why did you change sides.
Why did you change sides.

And now it seems you're all alone kicked you out of house and home. I can't believe it came to this girl, you don't know what you missed. I cared for you every day, every single little way. You spit it back in my face then you did it in a plane.

I caught you in mid-lick With no where to hide, so why you denying what I saw with my own eyes.

Would you change for me, as I close my eyes all alone i see.
Why did you change sides.
Why did you change sides.

Would you change for me, as I close my eyes all alone i see. Why did you change sides.

Would you change for me, as I close my eyes all alone i see. Why did you change sides.

Why did you change sides.
