Half your life you kept it in Born without a stomach Now the thread around you spins

No, you're not that kind of girl No, you could've had the world

Every time they lift you up Every time more thread to cut Seems like you've been cut enough

No, you're not that kind of girl No, you could've had the world

Now lesser things Pull the strings Of priests and kings

No, you're not that kind of girl No, you could've had the world