Soon it will be over
I laughed under my breath over your shoulder
There's a message out tonight
Nobody's looking at the sky
Soon it will be over

I laughed under my breath, over your shoulder You think that I don't know your name And now your face is all in flames You think that I don't know your name And now I'll stand there, all amazed