Had Enough

Lower Than Atlantis

I hate everyone that I meet But I'm getting better Think before I speak because I I know I've got a temper (I know I've got a temper) Screws are shaking loose I'm bent and buckled My teeth are clenched

Think I've blown a fuse There's blood on my knuckles The smile on my face is fake And the vein on my head suggests you get running

I've had enough, had enough Had enough, had enough yeah Cause I've had enough Think I'm reaching the limit You should keep your distance Cause I've had enough

Take a deep breath and count to three And then I'll be behavin' I feel like people just don't get me Maybe I'm crazy

Think I've blown a fuse There's blood on my knuckles The smile on my face is fake And the vein on my head suggests you get running

I've had enough, had enough Had enough, had enough yeah Cause I've had enough Think I'm reaching the limit You should keep your distance Cause I've had enough

Well I guess it could be me Quite possibly I might be scared or insecure I have been to hell before, the blame ain't yours But the vein on my head suggests you get running Cause I've had enough Cause I've had enough

Had enough, had enough Had enough, had enough yeah Cause I've had enough Think I'm reaching the limit You should keep your distance Cause I've had enough

Hey now, don't you know I said hey now, don't you know, know Cause I've had enough Hey now, don't you know I said hey now, don't you know, know Cause I've had enough