

Number One

Lower Than Atlantis

If I was to close my eyes when I crossed out the item down
Will I leave a legacy, or just our cups behind
I've tried to build an empire with no dollar signs in my eyes
I'm tired, of dreaming dreams that won't come to life

I'm no-one, but it used to be someone
Somewhere, I thought I needed something
But I guess I learn nothing
No

Working on hardly?
I'm not givin' up till number one
Working on hardly?
I'm not givin' up till number one

My life, the livin' span irrelevant in time
I'd like to leave a piece of me behind
What is justice and what what is gone?
What will be hopefully number one?

I'm no-one, but it used to be someone
Somewhere, I thought I needed something
But I guess I learn nothing
No

Working on hardly?
I'm not givin' up till number one
Working on hardly?
I'm not givin' up till number one

Well, it used to work, I'd have to work to live
How I'd live to work, cannot believe
Well, it used to work, I'd have to work to live
How I'd live to work, cannot believe

Working on I'll be working on
Working on till number one
Working on I'll be working on
Working on till number one
