

Stays The Same

Lower Than Atlantis

When we were young,
Before our real lives began
We may hide in the sun
As ten miles pass
Searching for the green in the grass
We forgot how to love

Just so you know I'm not quite ready, no, I'm not quite ready
No, I'm not quite ready to give up yet
Not quite ready, no, I'm not quite ready
No, I'm not quite ready to forget it

Do you remember all the plans we made?
All the things we saved for rainy days
Things didn't turn out that way
Cause things change, things change
Do you remember all the games we played?
Or the bark from the tree we carved our names
I know they're still there today
Because, because

The future wanna change but the past remains the same
Stays the same, stays the same, stays the same
The future wanna change but the past remains the same
Stays the same, stays the same
The future wanna change but the past remains the same

Memories won the fight
Picture perfect in my brain
What once was still remains

Just like I said I'm not quite ready, no, I'm not quite ready
No, I'm not quite ready to forget it

Do you remember all the plans we made?
All the things we saved for rainy days
Things didn't turn out that way
Cause things change, things change
Do you remember all the games we played?
Or the bark from the tree we carved our names
I know they're still there today
Because, because

The future wanna change but the past remains the same
Stays the same, stays the same, stays the same
The future wanna change but the past remains the same
Stays the same, stays the same
The future wanna change but the past remains the same

The future wanna change but the past remains the same
The future wanna change but the past remains the same

Do you remember all the plans we made?
All the things we saved for rainy days
Things didn't turn out that way
Cause things change, things change
Do you remember all the games we played?

Or the bark from the tree we carved our names
I know they're still there today
Because, because

The future wanna change but the past remains the same
Stays the same, stays the same, stays the same
The future wanna change but the past remains the same
Stays the same, stays the same
The future wanna change but the past remains the same
