A Heart So True

It's hard to loose, a heart so true Without a fight Lost my little angel somehow She might as well be in Texas by now She sure isn't here She sure isn't in my arms I know she's in the Goddamn town some where I drive past her house, but she's never there She's got a new boy; she's probably in his arms It's hard to lose, a heart so true Without a fight I know she drives these streets around here, but our paths neve r cross And she's disappeared, well if I decide readmit, out of mind I' d be fine But I lost my little angel somehow She might as well be in Texas by now I just want to see her, and see if she's looking for me It's hard to lose, a heart so true, without a fight.

It's hard to lose, a heart so true, without a fight, Lord knows , without a fight It's hard to lose

A heart so true, without a fight
