Water Ballerina

Luka Bloom

Across the sand, the stones and the shells I went down to the sea And the golden haired ballerina came down And swam along with me We were strangers out in the ocean Somehow shyness stayed ashore And I watched the ballerina Dive and dance down to the floor

Ballerina, ballerina Water ballerina

As the sun went down on the ocean And the night our time did steal We swam on in salty heaven It was too good to be real So I left her a silver dolphin In a place where she could see So that one day out at her swimming She might remember me

Ballerina, ballerina Water ballerina

Water ballerina with such golden curly hair She is gone now, like the summer To a beach in God knows where
