I Want You

I was running away from you Every day was dark and blue You were always on my mind My precious It's the fate that I can't find

I miss you I need you My heart is burning with this love It makes me want you even more

I was hiding the love from you Every night was dark and blue Now I'm trying to start all over I surrender to your heat

Lullacry