

Infinite Process One

Lunarsea

Working gears of every age, cycle of functions is immortal eternal rotor engaged for full time

The pulsations of the history as rhythm of wars and blood the discoveries alleviate the path's monotony

Let it go...infinite process one a tie that leads me to die

Let it go...only constant i can change a lane that leads me to birth

In a moving wheel a dna is installed. beyond the horizon a various horizons shine the concept of course thirsty maiden, and she moves like biwake

In the darkest rooms of icons merchants no one can say where to find the truth nobody can say where to find the process this untiring hybrid loop, a man who saw it he studied it all if can change, but the process continues to kill....

Let it go.. infinite process only a tie that leads me to die let it go...only constant i can change a lane that leads me to birth

Cathodic streams influence an ideas, a strange way to die crushed a strange way to die crushed

Dead pawn walking rambles through the city, with a finger in his ass with a finger in his ass

Let it go...infinite process one a tie that leads me to die let it go...only constant i can change a lane that leads me to birth