

Solstice Woman

Lunarsea

Sky turned red, deepest insomnia came
Blackened on muffled desire
She leaves no trace on path up to the altar, sit down
And up till now blinded
Butterflies images are over there with her
Insect on candlelight
Horizontal thoughts waste every heartbeats care freshness of yesterday... of yesterday
Love me, she's getting married, I remember the true story and aftermaths of today too I remember, I remember...
Living for no one I may return to breath, it's just a real time to rise
Under the moonlight alone in the dark she prays, solstice woman loves me, to see the spring's time comes before
Not even the day you warmed up me I've been brave when two planets collide in the universe under the sign of solstice
Woman who sing alone
I'm losing grains of self esteem to harmonize Nilefile, till I felt sick
Woman who sings alone loves me, solstice of woman
Love me, she's getting married, I remember the true story and aftermaths of today
Too I remember
I remember, I remember....