

Prisoner

Lunik

sunday afternoon and I just went for a walk back in my cocoon I miss our silly talks it's so hard to let you go though there's no reason I should hold you back I'm glad we said good-bye monday morning another week is taking off and I remember the night we met the first time when you said: „gotta light?“, I saw your smile and I fell for you right away that's when I lost my mind- I'm reliving it every day you didn't stay, I didn't die my life will go on a new day has begun without you I'm tryin not to glorify it wasn't always fun after a while I'll even forget your smile it's friday and I'm hanging `round in bars with some friends suddenly it hits me that you never met them of course, it would be nice to have you here with us I gotta resist the urge to call to hear your voice

you didn't stay, I didn't die
it wasn't always fun

I was yours, I called you mine a little loan for a little time I was tempted to keep it I was struck all of a heap but the shadows in your eyes, made me realize that you're in disguise
