Come on boy, I wanna dance now Line by line we talk all night, yeah

Hold me down, I think, I'm flying Everybody's eyes are shining Runaway to where the world is fine

Hold on boy, you're falling fast now Line by line you go no where, yeah

Drag me down I feel, I'm sinking Can't relate to what you're thinking Runaway to where the sun don't shine

Hello, hello, are you still there?
You don't answer me 'cause you just don't care
Act so young but you look so old
And you're too far gone to find your own way home

Life's so hard for you to handle You can't live without your devil Boy, you think that you're so special Well, life is hard for everyone, believe me

Hello, hello, do you still care? You don't answer me 'cause there's no one there Run away from your own sweet soul And you're too far gone to find your own way home

Hello, hello, are you still there?
You don't answer me 'cause you just don't care
Act so young but you look so old
And you're too far gone to find your own way home