

There Oughta Be A Law

Lynn Anderson

Well there oughta be a law against what he's done
Stole my heart and away he run
Didn't leave me a thing but misery
And there oughta be a law against the way he's hurtin' me

The world keeps turnin' round and round but I'm just standin' s till
Since my baby left me I've just lost my will
All my old get up and go has done got up and gone
I guess it when to find the place where happiness has flown
Well there oughta be a law...

He used to say he'd be my friend as long as I should please
If all my friends are like him, well who needs enemies
They oughta pass a law some way to lock him up for life
To make him honor and obey and take me for his wife
Well there oughta be a law...
And there oughta be a law against the way he's hurtin' me