

The Way You'd Love Her

Mac DeMarco

How's your heart been beating,
How's your skin been keeping,
How's the dream been going,
Since you came back all this time.
You left her out there somewhere,
Told her how you feel bad,
Never really got your chance to show her, what it really means
to love her.
The way you'd love her.
The way you'd love to love her.
The way you'd love her.

Closer to the ending
She's still out pretending
Prying eyes won't recognize the way she feel's about him.
She'll just go on living
The river keeps on rolling
Knowing all the time she'll never understand just what it means to love her.
The way you'd love her.
The way you'd love to love her.
The way you'd love her.
