wake... yeah

All we have is right now, All we have is right now

All we have is right now All we have is right now Uh, uh, yeah, Staring out into the unknown Voices in the wind telling me to come home, but I'm scared Scared that all this time I've been gone I'll open up the door and my little daughter will be grown And I'm cold, tell me why I'm so cold? Probably cause a shoulder turns every night that I'm on the road Probably why I can't smile every time that I'm on the phone And why I'm acting so wild every time that I'm alone Save me! I suffocate myself inside the bed trying to cut the circulation Of these thoughts inside my head like "Do I hate me? or do I hate them? " Either way I've held grudges since I was holding a pen My father had me thinking my cousin was dead just to hide me from the truth How can I look at him again? But this is life, and in life we learning to li And when the past dies this where it begins cause All we have is right now, Go hard or go home All we have is right now, Go hard or go home All we have is right now, Go hard or go home All we have is right now, Go hard or go home Question, What if tomorrow never comes and everything you said today couldn' t be undone? Cause' all it takes is a bullet from one gun to take another's moment away f rom their one love. I know See I was just an only child growing up, Just frowns cause' I never seen a s mile growing up But you? You were a friend, always down growing up Give the word, knew you would've blown trial growing up Fuck! How could we let all this petty shit blind us? How the fuck did we let the devil find us? See, we were supposed to be best friends till' the end You promised! How'd it take that fucking night to remind us? I only said I hated you cause you're the only one that's ever honest Man I said I was wrong, let's get beyond this! But it's crazy Cause I never thought my text apologizing would be the reason that you died driving. Damn All we have is right now, Go hard or go home All we have is right now, Go hard or go home All we have is right now, Go hard or go home All we have is right now, Go hard or go home Hey, and when the sky turns grey, what you gonna do when your blues still st Tried living the dream, yeah, but you still awake Anything is possible though, cause rules still break... Hey, said when the sky turns grey, what you gonna do when your blues still s Anything is possible cause rules still break so when your dream comes don't

All we have is right now, All we have is right now All we have is right now, Go hard or go home All we have is right now, Go hard or go home All we have is right now, Go hard or go home All we have is right now, Go hard or go home